1 Beyond Studio, 400 South Ave., Stes. 230-250, presents Featured Artists Afro-mationpottery and Katlyn Musice for the January Art Walk.

Featured ceramicist Afrotationpottery: "Art is one of the greatest loves of my life and in this body of work I aspire to bring it into everyday life."

Painter Katlyn Musice: "I paint in a way that is both confessional and therapeutic. This specific collection is about my life experiences - whether they be good or bad. Experiences that stand out in my memory. These are the things that shape and mold a person. Without these - who are we?" (417) 414-0487

2 Birds Eye Tattoo & Art Gallery, 300 W. McDaniel, presents Featured Artist George Perkins in January.

Artist Statement: "I paint what my eye finds beauty in. Sometimes there is beauty in the torture of life. I find the tenderness in the pain of a broken heart and the anticipation of tasting a full glass of whiskey. Beauty brings with it color and memory, snapshots of passing time. When I look around the world, I realize that everything was someone's passion, someone's art, and we take joy in what others create. Since I have made art my life's work, I have found more pleasure in a normal day. I can't wait to start my next project, and then again, and then again..." (417) 771 5487.

7 IdeaXfactory, 351 N. Boonville, presents Tangential Taxonomies, an immersive installation by local sculptor David Zaslow, inspired by the intersection of hard science and social science. Questioning how we form understanding, Zaslow's work blurs the line between what we feel and what we think, and explores the grey area between knowledge and belief. Comprising approximately 80 individual sculptures inspired by images from the textbook Animals without Backbones by Ralph Bauchsbaum and 1930s-50s scientific imagery, Zaslow's installation creates an environment in which his creatures can thrive or perish. . . . Intended to function like a Rorschach test, the installation challenges viewers to bring their own experiences and project their own understanding onto the work. <http://ideafxfactory.com>

Boonville Ave., a collaborative studio and purveyor of locally made furniture and home décor, invites you to experience the new work its members have created for the month and the exciting projects in which they are involved. 9 Obelisk Home at the Inspired Commerce Building, 214 W. Phelps, presents Featured Artist Madeline Brice.

About the Artist: Madeline Brice graduated in 2015 with her BFA in painting and received her BA in Art History in May of 2018. She's been an artist for seven years having been a part of many exhibitions locally and throughout the Midwest. Most recently she's found inspiration in collaborating with local businesses and publications, her latest being the re-branding of MILF imperial stout, now known as Materfamilia, with Mother's Brewing Company, which is set to hit the shelves early next Spring.

This new series of works from Madeline Brice is less about the conceptualization behind each piece and more about the explorative journey of working with new materials. Each piece is a response to the material itself and builds upon specific moments of interaction with it, drawing parallels and reflecting, quite literally, the world around it. (417) 616-6488 www.obeliskhome.com
